The Soul of the Matter

Each Year

the annual of Salem College is presented by the Senior Class. It was first published in 1905 as the Pin-afore, and in 1906 became the Semfem. Since 1907, it has been the SIGHTS AND INSIGHTS. This, the forty-first volume of the book under its present title, was published under the direction of MARGARET RAYNAL, Editor-in-Chief, and JANE MORRIS, Business Manager. The engraving was done by Jahn & Ollier Engraving Company of Chicago; and the printing and binding by Edwards & Broughton Company of Raleigh. Photographs were made by Redmon's Studio of Elkin.

Dedicated to

DR. WILLOUGHBY

HERE comes to us occasionally the rare combination of scholar and teacher: one who perhaps seems so wrapped in his own thoughts as to be unaware of reality, and yet in whose mind the world finds reality.

It was Salem's privilege, for twenty-three years, to claim one of these as her own. Dr. Willoughby seemed scarcely to touch the lives of her students, but in that brief contact she gave them not only facts, but the desire to learn.

Whether she had what is called true greatness perhaps we cannot say, but because of her there are some girls who have come to know the meaning of true greatness and the dignity of beauty and of learning.

Although we realize the inadequacy of any tribute we can pay her, we dedicate this book to Dr. Willoughby, with gratitude for her scholarship, her understanding, and her patience.

Foreword

To record the progress and achievements of the past year and to portray the impressions of the spirit of our campus has been the aim of the 1948 annual staff. We have endeavored to give a picture of student life here—our friendships—our work and play—and our respect for Salem's ideals and traditions.

With the hope that it will fulfill its purpose, we present to you this book, the 1948 SIGHTS AND INSIGHTS.

ADMINISTRATION is led by the President, our head man, who tells the Faculty (which includes the School of Music and the Other Administrative Officers what to do. They, in turn, pile all kinds of work on the CLASSES. Under this heading are the Seniors, dignified (?) and diligent (??) the Juniors, who try to make the Sophomores look up to them; and the Freshmen, who are no greener than the usual. ORGANIZATIONS, the most formidable of which is the Student Gov., are next. Spiritual life is headed by the F.W.C.A.; blue jeans are banned by the I.R.S. Those with literary aspirations help with the Publications; the brains behind the beauties belong to the May Day Committee, and our co-eds make up the Miss' Organization. Besides these, there are numerous Minor Organizations. ATHLETICS are headed by the A.A. For the sylph-like, there is the Modern Dance Club; for the brawny, the Monogram Club. Those who are able take part in Salem Sports, the others just watch. FEATURES includes our most beautiful, the May Queen and her Court, who rule on May Day. The Sentinel Marshals are next, efficient hushers-up and ushers. And the Feature Girls are those blessed with enough versatility to be selected for this honor by the annual staffs.

Alma Mater

Strong are thy walls, oh Salem,
Thy virgin trees stand tall,
And far athwart the sunlit hills
Their stately shadows fall.

CHORUS

Then sing we of Salem ever,
As proudly her name we bear;
Long may our praise re-echo,
Far may our song ring clear.

Firm is thy faith, oh Salem,
Thy future service sure;
The beauty of thy heritage
Forever shall endure.

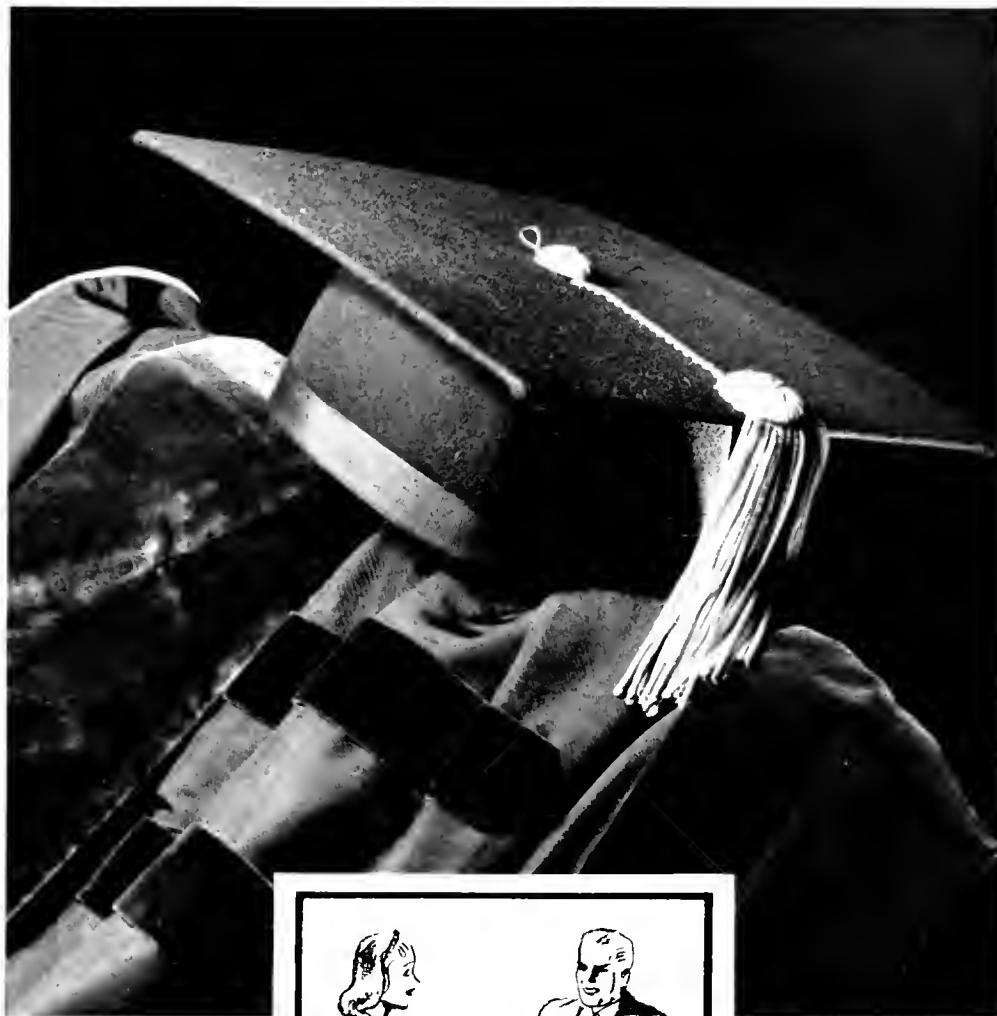

True is our love, oh Salem,
Thy name we proudly own:
The joy of comradeship is here,
Thy spirit makes us one.

Administration

THIS YEAR has brought a great number of changes at Salem, with many of the old faculty members gone. Returning students found it hard at first to regulate themselves to the ways of new professors. For the 176th time, though, Salem can claim to have completed another school year successfully.

A Letter from the President

To every owner of SIGHTS AND INSIGHTS:

Although it sounds like an exaggeration, it is really the truth that no other book will evoke from you an interest, year after year, greater than that which will be awakened in you when you turn these pages, whether a year hence or in 1998 when you settle down in your favorite rocking chair and adjust your bifocals to see again what you were doing, with whom you were sharing daily life at Salem College in 1948. In very truth, one's own college Annual is totally unlike any other book not only in the records it contains but in the memories it stirs and in the dreams which it reawakens.

Dreams, books, are each a world; and books,
we know
Are a substantial world both pure and good.
Round these, with tendrils strong as flesh and blood,
Our pastime and our happiness will grow.

Thus from Wordsworth we borrow an expression of the good wishes with which goes forth this issue of "SIGHTS AND INSIGHTS, 1948."

Cordially and expectantly,
HOWARD E. RONDTHALER
President.

SENIORS TO Freshmen, all had the usual number of gripes, ranging from the Great Light Bulb Episode to homework problems. With these, though, were the good times—dances, movies, the Toddle House, week-ends, bull sessions—which made life a bit more bearable for the much-abused students.

Some of the "old ladies" came back early last fall, to act as advisers to the Freshmen. Margaret Carter, below, expounds to her group of advisees the do's and do-not's of Salem rules.

On "Standing at the Portals" day, the Seniors still felt a bit self-conscious under the weight of their new dignity, but it didn't take long for them to get used to their caps and gowns.

Oh, for the life of a Senior! Always something happening like the much discussed Mr. Weinland-Light-Bulb incident (of which we offer graphic proof at the right).

Even when nothing was going on, we still scraped together a little of life's spice by dressing up in our New Looks. Of course at Christmas there was never a dull moment, with Senior Vespers, Christmas caroling, and the banquet. Practice teaching and living in the Home Ec. house kept some of us busy and all of us spent too many hours in the Smokehouse. The Junior-Senior topped off the year's dances the best one yet.

Then came finals the final finals, that is and most of us had to dig so that we could pass seminar exams. Even then, though, there was time occasionally for sunbaths by the pool.

The biggest and never-to-be-forgotten day was May 31 Graduation. Even the local cynics shed a few tears and then started making plans for a reunion.

The Juniors, having taken the step up from sophomorehood, acquired a new sense of responsibility. They also acquired Freshman "little sisters." Katherine Ives, below, listens to the woes of her two.

Another sign of their lofty position was the seriousness with which the Marshals took their work. Taking up hymnals, as Bet Epps and Jeanne Dungan are doing, was only one of their onerous tasks.

The Juniors still hadn't learned to keep up their mask of solemnity, but they tried hard. (Look at Helen Brown's expression, for example.) Dance weekends were no time for such thoughts, anyway. And there was always an excuse of some sort for cutting up ... like Hat Night, which Hassler made the most of.

They were a go-getting class, especially when it came to something like the Junior-Senior Christmas banquet, and the Junior-Senior dance in the spring.

With it all, they still liked to pose for pictures: childish pleasure and the Home-Lo-ers could still kick up their heels. None of them realized that next year they would be Seniors.

At the end of the second semester, though, it dawned on them that their carefree days were numbered and they ran elections like old-line politicians.

Finally, and a bit unbelievably, they drew room numbers for Bitting, and found robes and caps that fitted. And then they were the Seniors.

Sophomores are the forgotten class, at least until time for their comprehensives. Then they have the sympathy of everybody . . . and well-deserved it is

It seemed that everytime we got a camera out, the Sophomores were just loading. Of course that doesn't mean they were lazy, but sometimes we wondered. . .

They were "mighty Sophomores," and monarchs of all they surveyed (provided it was no more than the Freshman class). During Rat Week, Gerry Hancock and Becka Huggins made Lucrezia Borgia look like a milk-sop.

Then they settled back and took it easy. Once in a while they worked hard. They had to, for something like the school hockey championship.

Most of 'em didn't take studying too seriously, after all, it was a long time before they would be Seniors. Instead they played like mad in the snow — or got together to tell the latest — or just slept in the sun, after the pool opened.

The day of reckoning always comes, though, and this year was no exception. Exams got here, books were dusted off, and the Sophomore Class managed to squeak through. So, at the end of the year, they were ready to inherit the exalted name of "Juniors."

It was quite a blow to the Freshmen to see those bare rooms in September. After roommates got acquainted, though, they soon performed minor miracles with drapes and rugs.

During the first week, they hardly had time to discover Gooch's. Mrs. Rondthaler introduced them to the historical spots Salem does have some, you know.

It was a hard life for the poor, be-nighted Freshmen until Rat Week and Sophomore Count (unhappy day) were over. But then they had to learn to study. By bitter experience, they found that the ways of college professors aren't those of high-school teachers.

Nights, though, they played. Bull sessions until three or four in the morning were their favorite time-killers.

Weekends, Oak Ridge cadets descended en masse, as they have from time immemorial. And "the Frosh" found time to knit more argives than Salem has bricks.

With their week-days full, they still managed to make like sophisticates on Sundays, and to cut up for the camera.

After a year here, they were Salemites to the core, like it or not. Their greenness had worn off, and they were ready to accept the dread title, "Sophomore."

Organizations

ALTHOUGH Salemites are usually busy keeping up with their parallel and homework, most of them still find time to join a club or two. For those so-inclined, there are the dramatic clubs, the publications, and the departmental clubs. And for potential "wheels" there are the major organizations.

MARY BRYANT
President of the Student Government
Association of Salem College

Student

ONE of the major steps undertaken by the Stee Gee of 1947-48 was the inauguration of "Honor Week." During this week, the Association gave a chapel program and vespers at the College and Academy. Other accomplishments were the modification of minor regulations, the sponsoring of the first formal dance of the year, the beginning of a Stee Gee scrapbook, the promoting of the science building drive, and the sponsoring of a faculty and student tea.

In its way, the Student Government Association has upheld the standards set for it in the past, and has attempted further development.

PEGGY BROADDUS

President

ANYTHING that can add to the comfort or happiness of Salemites becomes a part of the "Y" Cabinet's duty. This year's cabinet, under the enthusiastic guidance of President

YWCA

Peggy Broaddus, plotted the course of one of the most varied and successful organizations at Salem.

For quiet meditation and worship there were Sunday night vespers, "Y-Watch" in each dorm once a week and Spiritual Evaluation Week sponsored in March.

Nor did the "Y" limit itself strictly to campus activities—it also assisted in community work through the Girl Scouts, Girl Reserves, and the Day Nursery; helped in hospitals; played Santa Claus to the Colored Orphanage in Winston-Salem; and directed recreational projects at the city YWCA.

Then, to give students a little physical as well as spiritual nourishment, there were Sunday afternoon teas and "filling stations" that provided the much needed "pause that refreshes" during exams. Davidson-Salem Day was a big success with both Salemites and Davidsonians.

IRS Council

THE IRS ("I Represent Salem") is the strongest link in Salem's chain of social correctness. It advocates sweaters and skirts instead of blue-jeans, hose instead of bobbysocks and the absence of kerchiefs in the dining hall.

However, the IRS is not merely an organization of rules but is an organization of activity, also. This year Helen Spruill, a model president, made big plans for the annual IRS Christmas dance, aided by the council. The dance was a big success, with its huge Santa Claus sitting in a sleigh drawn by Donder and Blitzen. As they danced the figure before intermission, council members and their dates were spotlighted and showered with sparkling snow.

The IRS is an organization of which Salem can be quite proud, for it maintains rules of correct clothing (on and off campus), of refined manners and of lady-like conduct wherever a Salemite may go.

MARGARET RAYNAL
Editor-in-Chief

THE Editorial Staff has one of the longest and hardest jobs of all the campus activities. The work entails making up a dummy, collecting snapshots, arranging picture appointments, writing copy, sending pictures to the engraver and various other odds and ends that continually come up during the year. The task of arranging these odds and ends fell into Margaret Raynal's hands this year who, with her staff, arranged, rearranged, wrote, mapped out and managed in general the 1948 year book.

Sights and

Associate Editor Catherine Gregory plotted and planned with Margaret in an effort to get the most annual for the least money, while Assistant Editor Emelyn Gillespie and Literary Editor Peirano Aiken, co-workers in confusion, worded and worded again one-hundred and twenty-one pages of copy. Photographic Editor Dot Arrington climbed buildings and trees and all but stood on her head getting just the right lighting for a good shot.

The password for the staff was, "Don't forget the deadline!" and from what seemed utter chaos emerged the 1948 SIGHTS AND INSIGHTS.

Insights

THE woman behind the wampum of the SIGHTS AND INSIGHTS Business Staff was efficient, long-suffering Janie Morris who knows that it is no child's play to balance books and budgets and still come out even. Not only is brain-power called for but also a great number of hours in foot-power spent in collecting ads. Then, too, there are the sessions with Assistant Business Managers Isabelle Leeper, Hazel Crenshaw, and Advertising Manager Betty Holbrook, correspondence with the printer and the engraver and a round of ad assignments to be handed out.

The problem of ads was one of the first and biggest problems that Janie had to solve, and beginning early in the fall, business establishments were hounded until the practicality of a nice big ad was admitted. The last big task of the Business Staff was to see that the annuals were given out to the student body and with that task completed, both staffs of the annual heaved a sigh of relief.

JANIE MORRIS

The members of the Business Staff are: Eaton Seville, Page Daniels, Patsy Moser, Elizabeth Leland, Augusta Garth, Norma Barringer, Carter Read, Faye Stickney and Sophie Bowen.

The Business Staff: Bowen, Stickney, Read, Barringer, Garth; seated, Seville, Daniel, Moser, Leland.

PEGGY DAVIS
Editor-in-Chief

BE everywhere! see everything! hear everything! and write it all down in top style before the Wednesday night deadline. Then cut, stretch and rearrange the pieces until a presentable paper emerges for Friday distribution. That was the job of the Salemite Editorial Staff and the responsibility of competent Peggy Davis.

Helping her uncover the news and assign it to reporters was Associate Editor Peggy Gray, who also had a hand in the printer's ink. Assistant Editors Nancy Carlton and Carolyn Taylor gave their all to the cause, doing editorials, features, unwritten headlines, and all the other odd jobs called for by the Chief.

This year, the Salemite printed a well-balanced combination of fact and fancy. By calling attention to certain situations and by giving both faculty and students a chance to air their views, the paper took the lead in fostering improvements on campus.

Behind the brains that make the by-lines were the brains that knew the "buy"-lines—namely, Business Manager Eliza Smith and her assistant, Jane Morris. Eliza and her staff had a mind for figures, a talent for "ad"-libbing, and a storehouse of patience and fortitude.

First, the overall expense account for the Salemite had to be estimated, a portion of the Student Government Budget set aside, and income from extra-student subscriptions and advertisements determined. Then came the difficult job of balancing the finances with the editor's expansive hopes for a bigger paper.

The task of filling those big holes on the back page with lucrative advertisement fell to Advertising Manager Betsy Schaum, assisted by Mary Hill.

Virginia Conner contributed tired eyes and strained muscles to the cause when, as Circulation Manager, she addressed and mailed copies of the Salemite to off-campus subscribers, and stacked them for delivery into the dorms each week.

ELIZA SMITH

Other members of the Business Staff are: Barbara Ball, Anne Carrington, Mary Faith Carson, Carolyn Dunn, Augusta Garth, Betty Griffin, Jane Hart, Laura Harvey, Betty Holbrook, Ann Jenkins, Georgia Kaperonis, Betty Kincaid, Ann Lanier, Carolyn Lovelace, Jean Millikan, Ann Pleasants, Joyce Privette, Collette Spiegelburg and Myra Wengolin.

BETSY BONEY
Chairman

There are brains behind those beauties and they work the entire year so that long-awaited May Day will go off just like a Big Ben. Betsy Boney and Vice Chairman Jane McElroy began forming visions of a different and perfect May Day performance last summer, and during the year the vision became as real as the rain which usually falls on May Day.

Dottie Smith and Betty Ann Epps materialized the costumes which fit perfectly into the May Dell surroundings while Mary Davis and Ione Bradsher, Dance Chairmen, worked during the year getting the exact twists and turns they wanted in the dances. Music was selected by Chairmen Peggy Sue Taylor and Lib Price; and Chairman Boney, along with many other duties, had the task of designing the May Court dresses and then having them made.

Another duty of the May Day Committee was to arrange for election of the Queen and her court in the fall. There was a bountiful collection of beauties in the contest, and out of the thirty-five participants fourteen were selected by the student body to appear in the May Court.

Other chairmen are: Nominating Chairmen, Sarah Clark, Mary Jane Hurt; Publicity, Jane Morris, Joyce Privette; Finance, Kathryn Ballew; Properties, Peggy Sue Taylor, Ruby Moye; Wee Blew Inn, Ruth Lenkoski, Claire Phelps, Dot Massey; Programs, Margaret Carter; Amusement and Entertainment, Susan Johnson, Ann Mills. Other members: Betty Biles, Virginia Summers, Miriam Bailey, Claire Craig, Dot Arrington, Katherine Ives.

The Men's Organization was founded last year upon the advent of the co-eds, most of them ex-GI's. Although out-numbered about seven to one, the men have held their own with the women students, in both academic work and social activities. With Dr. Jordan as their faculty adviser, the men kept busy by giving a banquet and an informal dance with the women students as guests, and by carrying out their other projects successfully. Between classes, they gathered in the Lounge to iron out everything from politics on; and after hours some of them played fast basketball at the YMCA. A new thing for old Salem, this organization has been one of the liveliest on campus.

The purpose of the Pierrette Players is to stimulate and encourage a genuine interest in studying dramatic art and in producing plays. The black and gold Pierrette pin is worn proudly by the students because active membership is limited to only thirty-five girls who have done at least one year of outstanding work in the Salem Players.

Highlighting the year 1947-48 was the club's major production, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" starring Betsy McAuley. Other activities included presenting a one-act play at Chapel Hill in the spring, supporting the Salem Players and the Winston-Salem Little Theatre, and entertaining drama celebrities when they were on the campus.

The Salem Players is a comparatively new organization formed in the fall of 1946 to fill the need for a dramatic club that any interested person, whether underclassman, senior or coed, could join. It was organized under the direction of the senior theatrical group, the Pierrette Players, into which twelve outstanding Salem Players are voted each year as vacancies arise. Players now are rated by a point system whereby credit is given according to enthusiasm shown and the quality of work done in acting, play selection, make-up, staging and publicity.

Since organizing, the club has given several one-act plays and two major productions, "The Importance of Being Earnest" and "Jane Eyre." Besides giving plays, the members helped entertain civic organizations, directed high school dramatics and gave skits for their own and Salem's entertainment.

The Salem Players have grown in popularity and enthusiasm, for through this medium the girls learn not only grace, poise, self-confidence and good enunciation but they are given the opportunity to express themselves through an interpretation of the characters they play.

Until this year, membership reached about fifty-five, but because of increased membership and limited space, the names cannot be listed here.

President JANE MORRIS
Vice president NANCY CARLTON
Secretary MARY ELMORE FINLEY
Treasurer JANE CHANDLER

Everyone interested in current affairs is welcomed in the IRC. Lectures, movies and panel discussions make up the varied programs of the club. Group discussions conclude the meetings and often continue in smoke-house bull sessions later. The president, Jane Morris, attended the World Federalist meeting at Greensboro and made an interesting report to the club.

Among the different phases of international affairs delved into, world peace, including the effectiveness of the present United Nations and the value of universal military training, received special consideration. One of the outstanding speakers on campus this year was Mr. Sam Levering of the North Carolina World Federalists, who gave an assembly address and conducted two open forums. As a result, several IRC members became very much interested in the Federalists movement and helped the Academy in organizing a local chapter.

As well as keeping its members well-informed, the club keeps before the entire student body the importance of world affairs. A weekly news column is written in the Salemite and a better understanding of the contemporary affairs is attained through active inquiry.

The IRC deserves special recognition for its part in bringing ivy-covered Salem up-to-date, and in keeping us aware of issues of vital importance to young Builders of Better Tomorrows.

THEY'RE A COMMITTEE BY DAY BUT NEVER STUDENTS BY NIGHT

President PEGGY BLUM
Vice president FRANCES REZNICK
Secretary CHRISTINE GRAY
Treasurer FRANCES SOWERS

Other members: Molly Darr, Ruth Morgan, Carolyn Johnson.

The lassies who go home after classes are headed by the Day Students Committee. The Stee Gee off-campus vice president and treasurer automatically become president and vice president of the group, and class vice presidents make up the other members. Every other week, the Committee meets with all the day students to bring up new problems and to solve old ones and holds called meetings if a situation arises between times. Its aim is to make the day students a working unit at Salem.

Under the guiding hand of Miss Adele Pangle, the group was, in fact, one of the working-est on campus. During the summer they worried up enough ads to finance the Handbook, and then kept the day students jumping all winter long with such projects as an orientation party in September for the Freshmen, a Mother-Faculty tea in November, and a Christmas tea dance in December. A year-long activity was sending flowers to day students who were sick. One of their most widely-applauded projects was furnishing a smoke house in the back room of the Center, after having persuaded the Administration to allow smoking there. Of course they weren't on campus as much as the boarders, but the day students played an active role in Salem life this year.

President's Forum

This group, which includes the presidents and heads of all campus organizations, meets to work out, on a coöperative basis, matters which concern the extra-curricular activities.

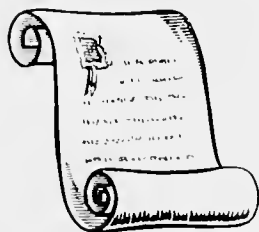

This year a new committee has been formed, composed of representatives from the student body and the faculty. It discusses campus problems and hopes to bring the faculty and students into closer understanding. We were unable to get a picture of the group, but we feel that it should be given recognition here for its excellent work.

Students who maintain a merit grade in Latin enjoy membership in the Alpha Iota Pi, familiarly known as the Latin club.

The year began with a big picnic in the fall at which the traditional "porci-in-vestibus" were served. "Porci-in-vestibus" (meaning "porkers-in-blankets") is the special name originated by members of the club for bacon rolled in cheese and toasted by an open fire. Other special occasions were the Christmas meeting when members sang Latin carols and enjoyed Latin punch, and the initiation service at the close of the first term when new members were admitted.

Programs for the year consisted of talks about Roman leaders, mythology, folk customs, and related phases of Latin culture that would promote interest in the classics. Following the discussions, games were played in Latin for fun and also for further familiarity with the language.

Membership includes: Zetta Cabrera, Mary Davis, Frances Gulesian, Beverly Johnson, Patsy Law, Nancy Mereer, Lillian McNeil, Joan Read, Elaine Singer, Dale Smith, Mary Jane Snavelly, Iris Stonestreet, Mary Jane Trager and Amie Watkins.

THE GERMAN CLUB KEEPS ON THE GO WITH ITS G. I. COEDS IN THE KNOW

President GENEVRA BEAVER
Vice president PEGGY WATKINS
Secretary KATHRYN BALLEW
Treasurer MARGARET MCCALL

Der Deutsche Verein welcomes all students who have had a year of German. Its purpose is two-fold—to study German contributions to world culture and to discuss present-day conditions. The latter aim has been stressed particularly since the outbreak of the war.

The first program of the 1947-48 term consisted of a talk showing the attitudes of an average German family, including the old-time Prussian, the Nazi-indoctrinated middle aged citizen and the child. This was followed by open forums led by ex-G. I. coeds who had been in Germany.

At Christmas the club heard the nativity story read from a German Bible and then enjoyed old German Christmas cake. They also presented an assembly program of carols sung in German and a talk on native Yule customs.

With all eyes on Germany, the German Club hopes to increase its knowledge concerning that country.

Members are: Peirano Aiken, Mary Wells Bunting, Helen Creamer, Frances Cumnock, Eleanor Davidson, Peggy Davis, Nancy Duckworth, Lila Fretwell, Laurel Green, Mary Jane Hurt, Anna Kamer, Doris Keith, Susan Knight, Bennie Jo Michael, Ruth Morgan, Ann Mosely, Joan Roeser, Dale Smith, Nell Smith, Frances Sowers, Ronda Stimpson, Frances Summers, Virginia Summers, Miriam Swaim, Jeann Tegtmeyer, Myra Wengolin, F. The French Club is organized primarily to interest students in the customs, languages, and culture of the French people. With Dr. Howard Jordon, head of the modern language department, as their adviser, the members have stayed up-to-date on the events taking place in France, and have gained a better understanding of the people. Under Peggy Gray's enthusiastic leadership, the club sent money at Christmas to the French orphan they "adopted" last year, and made an attempt to interest more people in sending aid to Europe.

One of the shining examples of the club's originality was the program at their opening meeting. This was a take-off on the salon of Madame de Rambouillet, and starred Joan Hassler. At another meeting, Miss Judy Sampson spoke on the life of Claude Debussy. The program was then turned over to Frances Horne, who played recordings of the composer's better known works. And of course refreshments always added to the appeal of the meetings.

The Spanish club, composed of Salemites who have had at least one year of Spanish, was organized in 1943. The members have corresponded with Spanish students in Buenos-Aires, Mexico and other Spanish-speaking countries. The club has become acquainted with Spanish life and customs through speakers, movies and Spanish games, songs and dances.

The high spot of the club's activities came in the spring when an annual "Fiesta!" was given together with the Home Economics club. A large room was decorated from top to bottom with Spanish shawls, sombreros and flags of the Spanish-speaking countries. A variety of Spanish food was served by "senoritas" who also provided a floor show for entertainment. Miss Adele Pangle's Mexican Hat Dance was the climax of the show and after three encores, she was forced to retire for some "agua."

The Spanish language is rapidly becoming more important and with it, the Spanish club hopes to increase its membership and expand its activities.

The Home Economics club welcomes into its membership all students of Home Ec. Each year, the club sets a new goal to achieve. This year the Meinung Memorial Fund begun by the class of 1945 was completed in order to furnish the foods laboratory in the new science building with modern equipment.

Twice a year the club sponsors the popular Gingham Tavern, a combination restaurant and night-club, complete with a floor show. At Christmas, there is the traditional Christmas

Tea given in the Practice House, all of which makes the Home Economics club one of Salem's most active organizations.

If penicillin, frequency modulation or atomic power are just vague terms that you would like to know more about, investigate the Lablings. An organization for all students who have had courses in the science department, the Lablings endeavors to promote understanding of the latest developments in biology, chemistry and physics.

This year, the Lablings was one of the most active departmental clubs on campus. It met twice a month, each time endeavoring to engage a speaker from Western Electric, Duke or North Carolina Universities or from Bowman Gray School of Medicine. An open forum of stimulating discussion followed each lecture during which members, other interested non-members and the speaker delved into such topics as the possibilities of atomic power in a military world, and the discovery and subsequent development of radar and its use in World War II.

Athletics

WITH A hockey team that won the state championship this year, Salem's sports are helping to put her on the map. Hockey, basketball, and softball are the big three, but tennis, golf, and swimming hold their own among the favorites. Athletic awards are made at the A. A. banquet held each spring.

ANN CAROTHERS
President

"Teaming with energy" was the motto chosen this year by Ann Carothers for the Athletic Association and no one would deny that the A. A. lived up to its ideal. An ambitious program for any group would be that which they undertook: field hockey in the fall, basketball in the winter, softball in the spring, golf, swimming, tennis and archery in the fall and spring, and riding, badminton and ping-pong all year round plus several important social functions.

Athletic Association

One of the major advances made by the 1947-48 A. A. was the revision of the point system. It now takes more points to get awards but they are given for participation even if the player does not make a varsity team. In the fall, the A. A. sent a hockey team to Greensboro which came home with the state championship. Also, Salem was hostess to the other schools at a basketball Play Day this spring. Big events of the year besides the games were a Saddle Shoe Stomp in the fall, the Valentine dance and the A. A. banquet in May, when awards were made. Isabelle Leeper won the coveted blanket, Salem's highest athletic honor.

During 1947-48 Council members were: Basketball Manager, Peggy Watkins; Assistant Basketball Manager, Beverly Johnson; Hockey Manager, Isabelle Leeper; Assistant Hockey Manager, Gloria Paul; Softball Manager, Jean Griffin; Swimming Manager, Jane Morris; Golf Manager, Marion Gaither; Tennis Manager, Sara Clark; Riding Manager, Carolyn Dunn; Archery Manager, Jo Patterson; Pres. of the Modern Dance Club, Ione Bradsher.

Monogram Club

The Monogram club is composed of girls who have won athletic letters through outstanding participation in basketball, hockey and softball and through an accumulation of points in minor activities. These letters and other athletic awards are presented at the spring A. A. banquet.

Along the social line, the club sponsors a Tea Dance in the afternoon before the A. A. formal each year. The members of the club also sell refreshments at the various basketball, softball and hockey games during the year.

Through its active interest in sports, the club has become one of the peppiest organizations at Salem.

Modern Dance Club

The Modern Dance club was organized in 1945 for the members of the modern dance classes and each year since, additional members have joined through try-out.

Mrs. Robert Lawson of Winston-Salem is adviser to the club and has fostered its interest in professional dance activities.

The Modern Dancers have participated in the annual Arts Forum dance classes held at WCUNC, had instruction under professional dance instructor Charles Weidman and have given an original student choreography work entitled "Lead 'Em Out!," a satire on American folk dances.

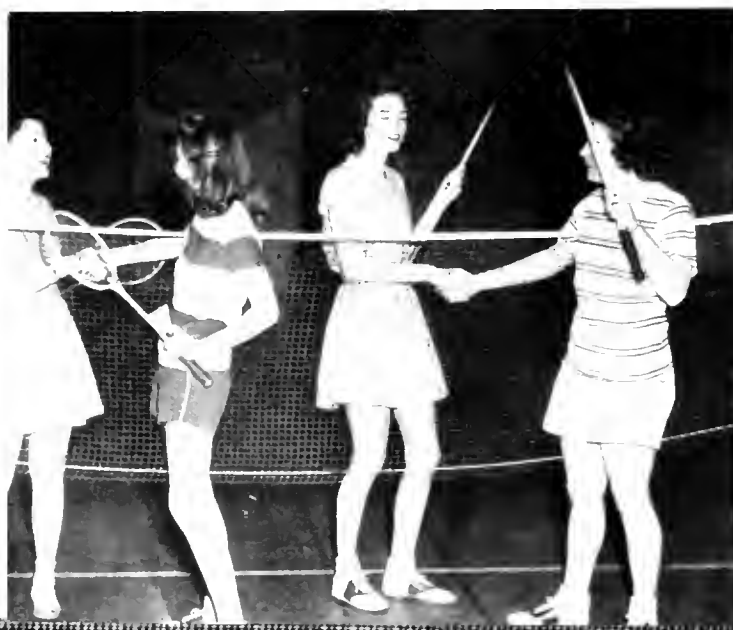

Ruby Moe, Ann Carothers, and Frances Horne would be at home in Sherwood Forest, if then determined looks mean anything.

A spring afternoon, a softball game, and the bases loaded, as catcher Carolyn Taylor and batter Sarah Clark wait for the pitch.

Betty Biles and Sibyl Haskins vs. Sarah Clark and Carolyn Taylor, after a hard-fought badminton game.

A hole-in-one would be hard to make on the hockey field, but Joyce Privette and Betsy Schanin make a nice picture, anyway.

Four Juniors caught in action. Nell Penn Watt, "Bitsy" Green, Laton Seville, Peggy Watkins. It's Watkins' basket.

Betty Griffin, ready to dive, as Dot Arrington, Ann Carrington, Nell Penn Watt, Betsy Boney, Dale Smith, and Beeka Higgins watch.

The Senior and Junior class hockey teams wait for the bully.

Features

IN THIS section are the features—the May Queen and her Court of Salem's loveliest; the Marshals, who kept knitting needles out of Chapel; the Feature Girls, who were elected by the SIGHTS AND INSIGHTS staff. Here we offer proof that Salemites aren't lacking in poise and personality.

The "Sights and Insights" Presents . . .

JANE MORRIS . . .

- . . . because of her contagious laugh.
- . . . because of her knowledge of battles, treaties and dates — especially dates.
- . . . because of a personality that goes over and stays there.

MARILYN WATSON . . .

- . . . because she gets things done without asking for praise.
- . . . because she kept Bitting in the straight and narrow.
- . . . because she's short in size and long in chatter.

JOAN HASSLER . . .

- . . . because of her Bette Davis routine.
- . . . because of her right-off-the-cob jokes.
- . . . because of her enthusiasm and perpetual motion.

*. . . The Feature
Girls of 1948 . . .*

EMELYN GILLESPIE . . .

- . . . because she's got a way with a piano.
- . . . because she's known for her efficiency and ability.
- . . . because Shulman has molded—or warped—her life.

YES, teachers are vitally important to you, and to every good citizen—yet today, as you well know, there are far from enough fully qualified teachers in our schools. What can you do to help solve the serious school-teacher shortage?

YOU CAN DO THIS!

First: Check up on educational conditions in your local schools. Second: Work with civic groups and school boards seeking to improve teachers' working and living conditions. The joint effort of forward-looking citizens can and must save this situation—for the sake of our children and our country.
